HAY FEVER

Given Six Men by the Doctor, Who Promptly Cured Them With His Tonic.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 28.—Dr. William Dunbar, formerly a resident of St. Paul, and now director of the Hygienic Institute of Hamburg, Germany, gave a demonstration here before the Commercial Club of the powers of his new anti-toxin for hay fever. He inoculated six doctors with the toxin until they sneezed and coughed to a state of strangulation, and then injected his anti-toxin, which brought almost instant relief. The demonstration was given under the auspices of the Ramsey County Medical Association.

Dr. Dunbar has discovered that the source of hay fever lies in the albuminous substance of pollen of grains and flowers. He had with him several vials of toxin obtained from pollen of wheat, golden rod and rag weed. Fifteen parts of toxin to 1,000,000 parts of water is powerful enough to inoculate 5,000,000 people with hay fever, he said.

The men who volunteered for trial were Drs. Schweitzer, Renz, Sneve, Taylor, Berryman and Odendahl. After the inoculation with antitoxin they experienced no further trouble from the disease.

BRISTOW ORDER

Has Aroused the Ire of Rural Free Delivery Carriers in the State of Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 28.—An order just promulgated by Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow, has aroused the ire of the rural free delivery carriers throughout the state. A lucrative business had been done by many carriers, who took agencies for newspapers, magazines and other articles, until Bristow issued an order forbidding carriers to act in the capacity of agents. Some of the more astute carriers violated the strict letter of the law by carrying with them in their vehicles relatives who assumed the duties of the agency. The carrier had been compelled to drop a new order forbids a carrier's relatives or friends to act as agents in conjunction with the delivery of rural mail, and now there is anger from Dan to Beersheba among them.

On the charge of assault on the minister the commissioners said: "We find Chief Westbrook guilty of this charge, but in our opinion the peculiar circumstances justified him as a man in pursuing the course he did."

AN OBSTRUCTION PLACED ON WAY IS DISCOVERED

Attempt to Ruin Hull of New Battleship.

If Plot Had Been Successful, the Launching Tomorrow Would Have Proved Disastrous.

New York, Sept. 28.—It is reported that with the intention of ruining the hull of the battleship Connecticut, which will be launched at the New York navy yard Thursday, some person or persons placed an obstruction on the ways. When it was placed there or by whom is not known, for it was not discovered until divers were sent down to make an investigation. This investigation was made as a matter of precaution, and the naval officers then learned that an obstruction had been placed on the ways that would have destroyed the work of months.

Officers at the navy yard would not discuss the matter at all, and it would not have been known if, in addition to the special guard of marines, two watchmen had not been stationed at the stern of the vessel with loaded revolvers and instructions to fire at any suspicious object in the water. It is believed that the obstruction was brought to the yard and placed in position from a boat.

As is usual before a large ship is launched, divers were sent down to see that the ways were clear. They went down for the first time on Saturday, and since the obstruction was found they have been making the most careful examination. They will be sent down for the last time tomorrow morning before the ship is launched, and Naval Constructor Baxter, who has charge of the launching, will be satisfied that everything is all right before he gives the signal which will send the great battleship into the water.

ATTACKED AND ROBBED OF ROLL IN METROPOLIS

When He Refused to Go in "Broker's" Scheme.

Manager Leaped from a Window and Broke His Back When Police Appeared.

New York, Sept. 28.—Agents of the Goddard Society and the police made a sensational raid on the brokerage offices of C. E. Marshall, on the second floor of No. 101 West Forty-second street.

When the police broke into the office one of the men, Henry Meyer, leaped from the window and fell on his back on the pavement of Sixth avenue. He was taken to Roosevelt Hospital suffering from a broken back.

The raid was the result of an amazing robbery committed in the place a few days ago. Herman Mayer, a merchant, was induced to visit the place and talk to its manager, Henry Meyer, about the investment of several thousand dollars in stocks.

Meyer and several other well-dressed men, Mr. Mayer says, had before him an elaborate plan for making millions out of nothing. He became suspicious and refused to launch into the venture.

Thereupon, he declares, he was thrown to the ground, bound and gagged and dragged into a nearby room. There his roll of $2,400 was taken from him and his watch and other articles of jewelry. After this he was treated with shocking brutality, he says, and was finally kicked down stairs.

He did not report the assault and robbery that had been made upon him to the police, but as soon as he recovered from his injuries went to the Goddard Society and told his story to Superintendent Burke.

Mr. Burke investigated the story, and this afternoon went to the West Thirty-seventh street station with several of his agents and called upon Captain Hussey to raid the place.

Meyer, the manager of the alleged brokerage office, saw the police as they broke in the door and immediately rushed to the window fronting on Sixth avenue, and leaped out.

Besides him there were six well-dressed men lounging in the room. They were arrested and locked up in the West Thirty-seventh street station.

As the prisoners were being taken to the patrol wagon William J. Hayes, the proprietor of a cigar store on Sixth avenue, between Forty-second and Forty-third streets, said he recognized them as men who had forced him out of $100 in a wire tapping scheme some time ago.

Captain Hussey asserted that he was sure that they were the same men who had robbed a Dr. Sterns, of West Thirty-ninth street, of $1,200 last June.

THOUSANDS

Intruded to Seidman Were Never Received by Their Relatives Say Hungarians.

Akron, O., Sept. 28.—After lining his pockets, it is asserted, with thousands of dollars received from trusting Hungarians, J. A. Seidman, late of the International Exchange bank in this city, is alleged to have left Akron, obtaining as apocryphal remembrance about $1,000 from Michel Loza to whom he sold the business.

Seidman came from New York last December and established the International Exchange bank and Ship Agency. He solicited deposits from foreigners desiring to return to their native country and gave them letters of credit. Many Hungarians of this city and Barberton left money with him to be sent to their relatives in their native country.

Many of these Hungarians claim to have given Seidman sums ranging from $50 to $100 to be sent to Hungary, and although three months have passed since the money was supposed to have been sent away by Seidman, not a cent of it has reached its destination as far as can be learned.

It is thought by the police that Seidman secured between $15,000 and $20,000 from his many foreign patrons, during the past few months. Check sent by Seidman to the Star Steamship company have been returned to the bank protested. Seidman is thought to be in New York.

LANDLORD

STOLE BANK NOTES FROM THE BOARDER'S TRUNK

And Then Fired the House It Is Alleged—Husband and Wife Are Bound Over.

Hammond, Ind., Sept. 28.—In order to make the owner of a trunk containing Russian bank notes valued at 10,000 rubles believe that it was buried instead of stolen, John Holestak and wife, of Miller Station, set fire to their home and burned it to the ground September 16, Chicago detectives who were scouring the woods in search of hold-up men declare, Mr. and Mrs. Holestak moved to Aetna, where Holestak found employment in the powder mills.

On Monday Josef Liwonowich returned to Miller's Station from his vacation. He had been a boarder in the Holestak house and on account of his Russian birth they had made him one of the family. In his room was a leather trunk. Before he left on his vacation he confided to his wife that the trunk was full of Russian bank notes and jewelry that had been bequeathed to him in the line of succession from an old family. During his absence it is alleged the Holestaks broke open the treasure chest and fired the house. Liwonowich searched among the ruins for the fastenings of his trunk, but in vain. He went to Hohart and learned that the Holestaks were in Aetna. Procuring a search warrant and a policeman their home was ransacked and some of the missing jewels and bank notes were found in their possession. Marshal Busse arrested the couple and they were incarcerated in Hohart. Yesterday afternoon State Attorney Bullock prosecuted them for grand larceny and Judge Mathews bound them over to the Lake Circuit court in Crown Point in heavy bonds. John Ryan, owner of the house in Miller's Station that was destroyed by fire, says that he will file charges of arson.

MILLIONS

CLEARED IN TWO DEALS BY A. J. LICHTSTERN.

Who Will Spend the Rest of His Days in Ease—A Remarkable Record is His.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Adolph J. Lichtstern, a broker on the Board of Trade, has retired from business, after clearing about $2,500,000 in two deals. He has withdrawn from his firm and is preparing to spend the rest of his life in ease. His fortune before the deals was about $1,000,000.

Lichtstern's two deals were largely in the May, 1904, and September, 1904, options, although there were big plunges in July and lately in December wheat. He has been both a bull and a bear during this time.

The Lichtstern deal in May wheat began very early last spring, soon after the turn of the year. When the whole speculative community was bullish in sentiment and action on May wheat Lichtstern was quietly buying it in large quantities.

Before he got through he had a long "line" of 5,000,000 to 8,000,000 bushels. When the public and the "talent" were so eager to buy wheat at $1 and $1.05 Lichtstern sold them 5,000,000 bushels or more that he had bought at 85 to 95 cents. When he sold all he had he sold 5,000,000 bushels or more that he didn't have. Wheat fell back under $1 once more. When settlement day came it was found that Ed Lichtstern had cleared up another profit of 8 to 10 cents a bushel on a treacherous line of "short" wheat.

It was only a few weeks until the second big campaign was on. From a point near 90 cents Lichtstern quietly took on a load of 5,000,000 bushels or more. Meanwhile the price had crossed 90 cents.

When it got to $1.15 and higher the same shrewd speculator sold another 4,000,000 or 5,000,000 bushels which he didn't have. They took it all, but the crash came again and at about $1.05 to $1.07 Lichtstern covered his big short line. In other words, he bought wheat at these prices from the people he sold it to at $1.15 and $1.17. Profit about 10 cents per bushel.

Alleges That Her Husband Sold Furniture and Left Her Without a Penny.

Mrs. Charles W. Green, 107 Chester avenue, East Newark, reports Wednesday afternoon, that her husband, a well known blacksmith, has left town and that his whereabouts is unknown.

Mrs. Green says that for the past few weeks her husband has not been himself. Mrs. Green went to Columbus Monday with her three little children, the oldest aged seven years, the second five, and the baby three years, to visit her mother for a day or so, and when she returned home Tuesday she arrived just in time to see a wagon drive away with the last load of her household goods, which it is alleged Mr. Green sold to a dealer in second hand goods. Mrs. Green says that her husband's people were told by Mr. Green that she had deserted him, but she says he knew better than that, inasmuch as he saw her board the train for Columbus and was told that she was going over to spend a day with her mother.

Mrs. Green says she does not know where her husband has gone, but has been told that he left for Cincinnati. She says that she has been left to care for the three little children without a cent of money. She will go to the home of her parents in Columbus and will take the children with her.

ROYAL MAITRE DU BALLET.

Emperor William Shows Berlin Chorus Girls How to Dance.

Emperor William supervised the rehearsal of the ballet Cephelia, now being produced at the opera house in Berlin. The feature of the ballet was a Slavonic dance, which presented exceptional difficulties. The emperor watched the attempts for a little while, then mounted the stage and coached the ballet girls himself. He showed them what movements should be made and how to make them. He displayed remarkable agility and perfect knowledge of stage routine.

His majesty also instructed the orchestra how to play the accompaniment for the dance. He took the conductor's baton and assumed the direction of the forty bandmen. The stage company gazed in astonishment at the emperor, who finally exclaimed: "Yes, yes. You may stare, but you know my interpretation is correct!"

The stage experts admitted that this ballet was being performed according to the emperor's ideas.

Mr. Davis' Tariff View.

(Pittsburgh Post)
Some of the Republican papers are seeking to pose ex-Senator H. G. Davis, candidate for vice president, as a protectionist. That is because he believes in incidental protection, which is quite a different thing from standpoint Dingelism with all its wrongs and abuses. In his recent speech Senator Davis said:

I am for a tariff that will yield sufficient revenues for the economical and proper expenditures of the Government, and in that tariff I believe incidental protection to our industries is right and proper.

In fact this has always been the position of Democrats, save as to a few zealots who talk of impossible free trade. It was the principle of the Wilson and Mills tariff bills, and of all tariff bills that the Democrats have had a hand in passing from the beginning to the end of the tariff legislation. It is a very different thing from the Dingel tariff, which imposed taxes to the manifest injury of American manufacturers, and under which the foreign producer was protected in selling foreign-made goods at absurdly low prices in the American market. That is where the standard of Roosevelt and Dingley. The Democratic platform was right in describing this species of protection as "robbery."

The trusts, protected by the tariff and underwritten by the Roosevelt administration, do not intend that there shall be a decrease in the cost of living. Their extortions will continue as long as the Republican party is in power. There are some things in the future there is some doubt about, but there is no doubt that the Republican party and the trusts will be partners to the end. Hath not the President said so in his letter of acceptance? Doth he not stand pat?

The New York Herald repeats and reaffirms its advocacy of the election of Judge Parker in an able and elaborate approval of his letter of acceptance.

ance, which, although calm and dignified, it asserts will stir the country even more profoundly than did his famous telegram declaring his irrevocable position on the currency question. The Herald concludes its remarkable endorsement in these words:

In thus boldly and incisively attacking the commercial slavery of Republican tariff protectionism and tariff-bred trusts beneath which the country is now so sorely galled and groaning the statesman of Rosemount is as daring as was Abraham Lincoln in 1859 when, assailing African slavery, he appealed to his countrymen in those burning words, "Let us have faith that right is might, and in that faith let us dare to do our duty."

This letter of Judge Parker cannot fail to inspire the friends of constitutional government with new hopes and to immensely increase his acceptability to all independent voters throughout the country.

There is every conceivable motive for Democratic unity in the state of New York this year, and with this sentiment, upmost New York will go Democratic, both on the electoral and state tickets. Judge Herrick, as matters now appear, will certainly be elected, and the election of the Democratic governor it is admitted on all hands, will carry with it the Parker electoral ticket.

"IT'S ALL OVER

Cries Republican Chairman Barnes, Who Predicts 'The Democrats Will Carry New York.'

New York, Sept. 28.—The New York Times says:

Wm. Barnes, chairman of the Executive committee of the Republican State Committee, accompanied by Congressman George Southwick, of Albany, approached the front entrance of the Hoffman house last night. Mr. Southwick entered the hotel. Mr. Barnes stopped and greeted an American reporter.

"What's the situation?" asked the reporter.
"It's all over," replied Mr. Barnes. "There's not a chance on earth in this state."

The reporter looked questioningly at Mr. Barnes.

The latter repeated: "There's not a chance."

"From what standpoint are you speaking?" asked the reporter.
"From our standpoint," answered Mr. Barnes. "We can't carry the state. It's all over now. Oh, we'll make a demonstration, and do the best we can, but it won't have any effect.""Will Parker carry the state?"
"Yes, he'll pull through. But Herrick will carry it by 50,000," said Mr. Barnes."How will Albany county go?"
"It will go Democratic," replied Mr. Barnes. "Of course, it's a Democratic county."

Mr. Barnes was plunged in gloomy thought for a moment, and then said: "And down here I suppose they'll give the Democratic ticket a majority of 150,000 or thereabouts. I never saw anything like it. It's all over."

Mr. Barnes explained that he had an engagement "up street," proceeded to the Twenty-fifth street entrance of the Hoffman house and met Congressman Southwick.

All of Mr. Barnes' predictions were heard by Michael Padden of the Sixth Assembly District.

People I Want to Miss.

THE world is peopled with people who vary in numerous ways—The all you say of a fellow If and of another is praise; The hand you reach to a Harry An insult would be to a John, And so, forever compounding. The variance ever goes on. But here, for the sake of the reader of this, Is a list of the characters I want to miss:

The man with an ax to grind.
The man with a woe to spring.
The man with a fault to find.
The man with a song to sing.
The man with a wife who nags.
The wife with a man who bores.
The man who forever brags.
The man (or the woman) who snores!
The man who is all made up.
The man who "calls a spade a spade."
The man who extols his pluck.
The man who is out for dough.
And boasts of his selfish quest.
The man who is always "Go!"
The man who is always "rest!"
The man who is always broke.
The man with a sudden flush.
The man with a glib tongue.
The girl with a glib tongue.
The man with the bright young son.
Who tells all the younger says.
The man who pays to a dun.
The man who says that he pays.
The man—well, but what's the use?
The world to its borders teem.
With people who play the deuce.
On the ragged edge of extremes,
And they are the people I mean by all this—
That's the list of the hairpins I want to miss.

Aunt Cassandra's ... Fan

By...
Harriet Whitney Durbin

Copyright, 1934, by Harriet Whitney Durbin

Sister Evelyn said she thought it was very inconsiderate of me to fall out with Joe the day before her wedding, seeing we were to be bridesmaid and groomsmen, Joe and I.

It was no very serious matter we disagreed about. Indeed, the primal cause thereof is somewhat misty to me now. I can, however, recall that Joe was on his "who but me" behavior for a considerable time, and when I scorchingly demanded who he was anyway he became sarcastically humble and said, "Oh, nobody; only a worm," after which he grew top lofty again and observed that at any rate he was a self respecting worm and wouldn't be stamped on.

I wanted every one to be amiable on my wedding day," plained Evelyn, "and if you and Joe don't stop spitting you'll never be married yourselves."

"Well, then," I said, "the world will have one quarrelsome couple the less." And I began to sing. Yet in my heart I knew that I was giving Evelyn a bluff, for I was already repenting of my snappiness, and my paucity of pride would have gone all to tatters at a soft word from Joe. He didn't seem inclined to speak it, however, and I was determined not to make my eyes red, and my nose glossy for Eve's wedding. So I went around with a stiff spine and my teeth tight together.

Evelyn was the first of us girls to flit from the home nest, and naturally we were all a bit exercised over the flight. Father's jokes were supposed to be spontaneous, as usual, but somehow the stitches showed, and mother, like Kathleen Bawn, had "a smile on her lip and a tear in her eye." But it took Aunt Cassandra to turn good and sentimental. I am her namesake, and I am sentimental, too, but I could not possibly sentimentalize about Uncle Jason. Not that I mean to disparage him, for he is gone from earth and was a good man while here, but he did have such a long neck. And from the latest recollection I had of him there was about as much romance in him as in a barn door. Nevertheless, Evelyn's preparations reminded Aunt Cassandra of the day before her own wedding, and when I wandered into her room seeking diversion I found her holding pensive communion with the souvenirs in her middle bureau drawer.

That drawer, with its quaint contents, was an object of immense interest to me. It brought up questions of a past before my entrance into the world. There were in its depths many odds and ends of the pomps and vanities with which Aunt Cassandra had adorned herself in her youthful days. There was a pair of balloon-like undersleaves, fine and soft, with narrow embroidered bands, all faintly yellow and scented with some old flower fragrance like musk rose leaves. There was a string of coral beads. There was a curious, flat, black bead bracelet, an old lace bertha, and there was a sacred little black case with a snap fastening in which were two photographs, one of Uncle Jason and one of Aunt Cassandra, taken soon after their marriage. They were of that old fashioned style in which you see nothing at first but a square of shiny glass which you have to tip about this way and that before you can distinguish the photograph.

"OH, JOE, JOE!" I GURGLED AS HE CAUGHT ME UP TIGHT.

There were other objects of interest in that drawer, but chief of all to me was a drowsy white fan of satin and ivory.

"I'm going to will you that some day," auntie said, seeing my wistful gaze.

"I wish you would," I replied, "and in the meantime I wish you would lend it to me for the present occasion. It will go so beautifully with that old yellow lace mamma gave me."

"Take it," auntie said pensively. "And now run away, like a good little girl. I am wandering in the past today." I saw nothing of my recreant Joe until the next day. He came early and made himself useful telephoning for things. I saw him a few minutes. I had left auntie's fan lying on the back parlor table, and when I ran down for it there was Mr. Joe idly twiddling the fan in his fingers.

"I am sorry I have to trouble you for my fan, y. Harley," I said sedately. He handed it over with a most stately bow, and I fled in confusion. When I had got my bridesmaid togethery on I whirled open the marvelous bit of carved ivory and old satin, and as I did so my eye alighted on two lines faintly penciled on the soft, creamy satin:

Dear Cass—Will you forgive me—say? For I'm your ever faithful J.

Ah, J., best beloved J.! It only needed that scrap of apology to send the penitent tears rolling out of my eyes. Down I flew, pell-mell, and landed in J.'s arms at the foot of the stairs.

"Oh, Joe, Joe!" I gurgled as he caught me up so tight the end of his necktie nearly went down my throat. "I've been so hateful. Of course we'll forgive each other and be friends once in-more, won't we?" Here I crushed the white carnation he wore in his buttonhole, but he did not mind—just kissed me quite recklessly until a door in the hall opened and father's head stuck out.

"I hear geese," he announced, whereupon one of the geese flew upstairs.

All that I can tell about Evelyn's wedding is that it was the sweetest wedding that ever happened, except one which followed on its heels shortly after.

When I returned Aunt Cassandra's fan I gave her two extra hugs. "It's a magic fan," I said and kissed it. "It is a magic fan," she assented, "and if it helped you make up your tiff with Joseph it's the second time it's been a peacemaker. Oh, dear, how well I remember my first quarrel with your Uncle Jason before we were married!" Auntie had a dreamy, far in the past expression on her good little face, and I knew she was reveling in her old romance. I shall always maintain that Uncle Jason was an exemplary man, but could any one for a moment compare him to Joe? Why, who but Joe would ever think of mending a misunderstanding by means of a beautiful couplet on a fan? Connect Uncle Jason with anything like that bit of sentiment! I was waxing indignant at the idea when Aunt Cassandra spoke again:

"Do you see those two lines about in the center of the fan, Cassie, in pencil? Well, Jason and I had not spoken for nearly a week, though we were anxious to make up our quarrel. One evening at a party I left my fan—this one—lying on a table. I saw Jason fooling with it, but I didn't notice what he was doing. After awhile, when I got possession of it again, I saw those lines: 'Dear Cass, will you forgive me—say? Why, what's the matter, Cassie? You look as if you were going to explode.'"

For a moment I thought I was; then I almost shrieked; then I almost wept, but what I did do finally was to tumble back on the bed and laugh. And therein I considered that I showed wisdom, for after all, were not Joe and I just as firmly reinked by Uncle Jason's muse as we could have been by Joe's?

"I'm a bit light headed, that's all," I said as I got up and kissed auntie. "Uncle Jason was a real poet and a dear besides."

Higher Mathematics.

James Hogan was no doubt an important person in Branbury, as he was the only man who could be hired to saw and split wood or to use a lawn mower. He never lost a chance to impress this fact upon a casual listener.

"I've got to get through this job for your ma quick as ever I can," he announced to the small son of one of his employers. "I'm losing 60 cents an hour right along every minute I'm here. There's three folks waiting for me now, and I don't know how they're going to get along till tomorrow without me, anny one of 'em."

"Why, Mr. Hogan," said the boy respectfully, "I don't see how you're losing 60 cents an hour when mother pays you 20, and you couldn't be but in one place and"—

"Have you got as far as geometry in your studies?" inquired Mr. Hogan coldly, resting his arms on the handle of the lawn mower.

"No, sir," admitted the boy.
"Then you do, you'll understand a good many things that's hid from you now," said Mr. Hogan, resuming his leisurely progress over the lawn.—Youth's Companion.

Misquotations.

"When Greek meets Greek, then comes the tug of war," said a young man.

"You are wrong in that quotation," his companion objected. "That is one of a number of famous sayings that are misquoted always. It is from Nathaniel Lee, and its right reading is, 'When Greeks joined Greeks, then was the tug of war.'"

"Another misquotation is, 'It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good.' This is from Thomas Tassier, a sixteenth century worthy, and it should run, 'It's an ill wind that turns none to good.'"

"Out of sight, out of mind," is from Lord Brooke, but it was 'Out of mind as soon as out of sight' as Lord Brooke wrote it.

"First in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen" should run, 'First in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his fellow citizens.' This famous sentence is from a resolution laid before the house of representatives in 1799 by General Richard Lee.

Valuable Sheep's Head.

Butchers of Bethnal Green, London, were surprised recently at the sudden popularity of sheep's heads with their customers. They could not begin to supply the demand. Inquiry developed the fact that gold had been found in the teeth of the sheep which had been shipped in cold storage from Australia. The sheep evidently came from some region where there are gold outcroppings on the surface, and close grazing left some of the particles in the teeth of the sheep. An attempt was made to ascertain from what region the sheep were shipped.

ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE BY MR. BICKNELL YOUNG.

Speaker Introduced by Attorney Carl Norpell—An Outline of the Speaker's Address.

A large audience assembled at the Auditorium Tuesday evening to hear a lecture on Christian Science by Mr. Bicknell Young of Chicago, one of the most prominent lecturers on this subject, now before the public.

A noticeable feature of the evening was the stage decorations which had been arranged by Mr. Frank Linke, of the Powers-Miller store. The decorations were flowers and ferns, with an artistic arrangement of oriental rugs from the Powers-Miller store donated for the occasion.

The speaker was introduced by Hon. Carl Norpell, who, in a neat address, recommended an attentive hearing from the audience, which Mr. Young's address received from his opening sentence to his eloquent peroration.

Mr. Young said in part: "Christian Science may be defined as the science of all that relates to God, and is science not only in relation to healing, but as corrective in relation to all the problems of existence. Accepted theories of religion and science have scoffed at the association of these words but reason and logic show conclusively that science must relate to truth, and therefore to God, since God is the cause and basis of all that is true.

"Christian Science does not proclaim a new God nor a new law, but it declares the same God, and the same law that Jesus declared, the one infinite eternal God, and His good and unchangeable law. It declares the omnipotence, omniscience and omnipresence of God as do all other denominations, and upon that basis shows that evil has no power, knowledge or presence; in other words, that it is unreal.

"Christian Science never ascribes evil to God, or makes Him in any way responsible for it, but shows that evil originates in a belief of material existence entirely apart from God, and unsupported by science or truth. Of all people, Christian Scientists believe most absolutely in Christ. They accept the teachings of Christ Jesus with out reservation. They declare that His command to heal the sick is as binding as that to preach the gospel; and that there is no evidence that it was intended for His time only. It was scientific religion that healed the sick in the time of Jesus and His disciples, and it does the same work now, and must all ways do it, since His life and work were an example for all time and His method was a universal and imperishable heritage of man.

"The steps of salvation in Christian Science are not unusual. As in other denominations they involve the admission or conviction of sin, sorrow for wrongdoing, or repentance, and reformation manifested in a correct life. Salvation in Christian Science, however, includes exemption from sickness, want and woe, as well as from sin. It is not contingent upon death, but is a way of life and a way of righteousness. Christian Science is founded upon the Bible.

"The Christian Science text book is a commentary upon the Bible. Other denominations have commentaries, but no other in the world have ever accomplished as much as this one. Thousands of people have testified that they have been healed, some of them of so-called incurable diseases, through the perusal of this book. In some instances this testimony has been given in courts of law, and has not been in the least shaken by cross-examination. Many of these cases involved the most terrible diseases known to mankind, such as cancer, tuberculosis, locomotor ataxia and in other instances such diseases as asthma, hay fever, St. Vitus' dance and others.

"It is erroneous to suppose that Christian Science deny the reality of things. They affirm the eternal existence of all things, and that they exist in the divine mind in their perfect individuality and proper order. It denies the materiality of things, including all the discordant conditions that material things manifest.

"Christian Science are in no wise arrayed against those who believe in materia medica. They were all believers in it themselves until they found in Christian Science a more efficacious way of healing. This way they believe to be the very best one, because it is God's way, as shown in the works of Jesus. Although charitably disposed toward those who practice the materia medica, Christian Scientists are fully aware of the fact that it is merely an experimental system. Surely after four thousand years it ought to be beyond this stage. Furthermore, it is self-confessed condition of weakness that combinations of medical societies and the medical fraternity generally should come before our legislatures, the tendency of which is almost invariably to shut out all other systems. Nor can any valid excuse be given as far as Christian Science is concerned on the ground of protection to the public, since Christian Scientists do not advertise nor sanction quackery, and they believe in obeying the regulations of health boards in relation to contagious and other diseases.

"Those who believe that mentality plays some part in disease and its cure generally look in the wrong direction, and say that the cures of Christian Science are effected by mental suggestion, hypnotism, mental science, which is spurious and not related to Christian Science, will power, or to some other erroneous or material belief. Christian Science, however, declares that it is God who heals diseases through Christian Science, and they of all people know best.

"We scarcely dare to think what the world would have been had not there appeared from time to time a man or woman good enough and great enough to be touched by eternal truth, and brave and self-sacrificing enough to stand for it. Mrs. Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, discerned and proclaimed to the world the God-given freedom of the race from all sickness, sin, want and woe. Such revealed the science by which man may begin to realize that freedom and overcome evil. Some time this knowledge had to come. According to the promise of Jesus, it was to be the spirit of truth, the Comforter leading into all truth. Some one had to be good and pure above all others in order to perceive it. Any great discovery along a given line is always made by one whose thoughts, desires and studies, are reached beyond those of other people.

"That Christian Science has a place in the world's thought today is due entirely to Mrs. Eddy. There was a time when she stood absolutely alone with God, and incurred the ridicule of ignorance and the hostility of theoretical reforms of religion and material modes of medicine because of her discovery of Christian Science. Today the whole world is uplifted by her teachings and example and because of it, human thought is arising somewhat from the depths of gross materialism. These are the simple facts. I should consider it presumptuous to praise Mrs. Eddy. A character touched by the deepest humility and illuminated with love to God and compassion for man is Christ-like; it needs no eulogy. Her life is an open book wherein are recorded only good deeds. The signs of these times are prophetic. 'Behold to the gratitude to God that is appearing in the hearts of men for the life and works of the leader of this great movement destined as it is to accomplish the regeneration of mankind.'

Mr. Vadakin's Story Causes Lancaster Eagle to Give Further Details of the 1865 Wreck.

The Lancaster Eagle copies the story printed in the Newark Advocate, which was related by Mr. Charles Vadakin, concerning the accident in 1865 near Pataskala in which a number of soldiers were killed. The Eagle credits this paper with the story but adds:

The following is the true history of this sad event as given in the history of the regiment and is told by all the boys who were there on this sad occasion.

"July 21st, 1865, after being discharged, about one-half the regiment left Columbus, Ohio, at 4:20 o'clock a. m. on the B. & O. railway via Zanesville, O., for their homes. About daylight, between Summit Station and Pataskala, in Licking county, while the train was going at the rate of about 35 or 40 miles an hour, something about the engine broke, which derailed the whole train, except the ladies' coach. In an instant, Quartermaster Sergeant George F. Kutz, Privates Matthias Harris, Company I, Martin T. Keller, John Rader and Ames J. Smith, Company K, were killed and the following injured: Corporal James Gannon, Co. A, ankle hurt; Private Wm. Gannon, Co. A, Muscular James McGowan, Co. F, ankle hurt; Privates of Company I, William England, foot mashed; Oliver P. Martin, leg and shoulder mashed; James Hawkins, thumb dislocated, and Ellison Murdock, both feet mashed; Privates, Company G, Henry Canoe, foot mashed; John W. Jones, right arm mashed and amputated later; Joel J. Hansberger, two ribs broken, and Abraham Rader, legs and feet fashed. There were several civilians killed and injured also. Some of those killed were in sight of their homes, and were standing on the platform of the cars looking for the last time or the homes they had not seen for years, and so soon expected to enter. A negro passenger had a leg cut off, below the knee, and though suffering much pain, he requested some one to find his boot with the balance of his leg in it, as he had quite a sum of money in bills, wrapped around that ankle. Some of our boys had their pockets picked during the excitement by professional pickpockets who had left Columbus on the same train for that purpose. A lady passenger tore her underclothing up into bandages for those injured, and the boys at once made up amputee and presented her with a handsome sum of money. John Guseman, Co. A, says the lady lived at No. 69 Mulberry street, Baltimore, Md., and that the boys gave her $396, but the lady's name has been forgotten, and all efforts to obtain same have failed."

The animal was badly frightened and started to run. Mr. Forester, who was in the way, was knocked down and one of his feet was badly injured. He is able, however at this writing to walk around with the assistance of a cane.

SAMUEL M. HUPP.
Whereas, In the dispensation of Divine Providence, it has pleased the Great Master Builder of the Universe to remove from our midst and ranks, our brother, Samuel Hupp, a charter member of this Local, who departed this life September 22, 1904, and,

Whereas, In view of the loss we have sustained in the sudden death of our friend and brother, who has always been a faithful member, ever extending the open hand of charity to those less fortunate than himself. He believed it was not man's mission to live for self alone, but to benefit mankind, so that the world might be better by his having lived in it, and the still greater loss, to those nearer and dearer to him, therefore be it

Resolved, That we desire to express our heartfelt sympathy to his family and friends in this their hour of affliction and recommend them to him who doeth all things well, and be it

Resolved, That in the death of our brother our union suffers the loss of a true and faithful member, his wife a kind husband, his children an indulgent father, and the community an up right and honorable citizen. Be it further

Resolved, That as a tribute of respect for our deceased brother, our chapter be draped for a period of thirty days, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this union, that a copy be presented to the bereaved and sorrow-stricken family, that a copy be published in our city papers, and a copy be sent to our official journal, "The Carpenter," for publication.

GRANVILLE

SALVATION ARMY FROM NEWARK HOLDS SERVICE THERE.

Funeral of Mrs. Wm. Rice—The Y. M. C. A.—College Fraternities Secure New Members.

Granville, O., Sept. 28.—The management of the Newark Y. M. C. A. have sent out announcements that the membership fee for the coming year will be $4 instead of $5. In this connection many parents in Granville are wondering whether the University Y. M. C. A.
may not probably be opened to their boys. Of course the town has no claim on the college by virtue of which it might expect such a favor;
and it must be admitted that if the college gymnasium was opened to outsiders it would increase the work of the instructors. However, one can clearly see what a vast benefit it would be to the boys of Granville not attending college to have access to the Y. M. C. A. In so small a place as this is scarcely possible to have a well equipped and well conducted gymnasium and it is one of the lacks which every small place must deplore for the Y. M. C. A. is one of the greatest institutions for the development of character that the modern world can boast of. It is not thought that the University ought to open the doors of the Y. M. C. A. to Granville boys, but it is hoped by many that the fine advantages of the new gymnasium may be made available to our youth. This is as the reporter hears it, and is not a statement of his personal belief.

The Newark Salvation Army Corps paid Granville a visit on Monday evening, the first probably since the organization of that great movement. The lieutenant of the little band of soldiers informed the reporter that he had been in Newark eighteen months, and was seeing Granville for the first time. In general the little band of Christian workers was well received.
There were a few scoffers, as there always are—people who have more breath and brains. The time has long since passed however, when the noble efforts, the splendid self denial and the heroic zeal of the Salvation Army were the subjects of ridicule and rebuke. The world no longer regards these plain and persistent soldiers of the cross as fanatics. Their good works long ago established them firmly in the respect and confidence of the entire world. Not a vice infected ward of any great city on the continent of Europe, and in our own country scarcely a poverty stricken home nor a sin cursed hotel but has felt the uplift of the Salvationists' work. Wherever men are most degraded, wherever sin plants her scarlet banner most brazenly, there the brave men and the sweetly sympathetic young women have penetrated. Today the Salvation Army, to the poor and sinful, means more than all the churches in Christendom. To them it carries the gospel of glad tidings of cheer and happiness, as no church has succeeded in doing.

It must not be inferred from the reporter's remarks that the trail of the serpent is especially conspicuous in Granville. Nevertheless, the best of us should be glad to acknowledge the great work that this big army is doing, and to admire the genuine unselfishness of its soldiers. Granville extends to the soldiers a hearty hand of welcome.

The funeral of the late Mrs. William Reese, who died on Monday morning at her home, one and a half miles northeast of Granville, in the Welsh Hills, took place from the home this afternoon at 2 o'clock, and was attended by a large number of the relatives and friends of the deceased. The services were conducted by Dr. Baldwin and the interment was made in Maple Grove cemetery.

THE BIG FAIR

Thursday Will be Known as "Merchants' and Manufacturers' Day."
Appeal to Business Men.

The following circular has been addressed to the business men and manufacturers of Newark and Licking county by the Licking County Agricultural society, asking them to observe
"Merchants and Manufacturers Day,"
on Thursday of fair week:

Newark, Ohio, Sept. 26, 1904.

To the Merchants and Manufacturers of Newark and Licking County:

The Licking County Agricultural society desires to call your special attention to the following facts, and to emphasize those facts to you as strongly as possible.

Our agricultural society belongs to the people of Licking county, and exists simply and solely for their benefit and betterment. It is not a personal gain, but a public enterprise for the public good. The success of the Licking County Fair means the benefit directly and indirectly of every farmer, manufacturer, business man and every citizen in Licking county.

For this reason the present management of the Licking County Agricultural society is desirous of making the coming fair the biggest and most successful in the history of the society.
In order to do this it will be necessary for every one to pull together, in town and country, and thus help make the coming fair a big and satisfactory success.

In other counties where county fairs
are held the merchants and manufacturers close their stores and shops and give their employees a day off in order that they may attend the fair with their families, and thus make it a success financially and in every other way.

In pursuance of this good idea it is the urgent request of the Licking County Agricultural society management that the merchants and manufacturers of Newark give their employees a half holiday on Thursday of fair week, which will be known as
"Merchants and Manufacturers Day."

In addition to the toll and interesting line of exhibits of all kinds, both agricultural and manufactured, there will be splendid racing and amusements of all kinds on that day.

We hope merchants and manufacturers of Licking county, without exception, will see the way clear to comply with this request of ours, and in benefiting the fair will benefit themselves. Respectfully yours,

J. M. FARMER, Sec.
W. H. KUSSMAUL, Pres. d&wt

THE RAILWAYS

SUCCESSFUL TEST OF AUTOMAT- IC TRIP SWITCH INVENTION.

Chicago Shops Shut Down—Pennsy
Changes—Despondent Conductor's
Suicide—Persons.

Springfield, O., Sept. 28.—A successful test was made yesterday of the automatic trip switch invention of Frank Baylis, a poor colored man. In the presence of several representatives of the leading railway companies a Big Four switch engine was sent through the switch at different rates of speed and the switch was closed with ease.
Herbert J. Foote, signal engineer of the Wabash, with headquarters at Decatur, Ill., was decidedly pleased with the invention. He said that Mr. Baylis had the right idea, but that he had considerable work yet to do before it would be ready for the railway companies. The roads represented at the test were the Wabash, Herbert J.
Foote, Decatur, Ill.; Pennsylvania,
Warren A. Vandervliet, Pittsburg; Big Four, Paul Hamilton, Springfield, O.;
 Erie, W. P. Kimball, Galion, and John Guiday, Xenia.

Shops Shut Down.

Chicago Ill., Sept. 28.—The Chicago
Rock Island and Pacific has practically closed down its car and locomotive shops here. One hundred and fifty men were thrown out of work. The enforced idleness came unexpectedly.
The union boiler makers employed in the shops had made demands for higher wages a few days before the shutdown came. General Superintendent of Motive Power Reed, however, declined that the shut-down was in any way attributable to the demands of organized labor.

Employees Indicted.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Responsibility for the wreck of the Sunday school excursion train on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad at Glenwood, Ill., July 17, when 18 persons were killed and more than 100 others injured, was fixed by the grand jury
when it voted to indict Frank E.
Hoxie, engineer; Frank Casper, conductor, and Charles H. Wright, brakeman of the freight train which caused the accident. Frederick Whiteman, train dispatcher, and Patrick Costello, fireman of the freight train, were exonerated by the grand jury, although they had been held responsible by a coroner's jury. Whiteman is the charge on which the defendants will have to stand trial in the criminal court. The principal reason for the indictment of the three men was the disobedience of orders.

Pullman Shops Closed.

Chicago, Sept. 28.—Three big plants of the Pullman works were ordered closed by chief city boiler inspector J. C. Blaney, who found and condemned 20 defective boilers in the establishments. As a result 2,000 men who were about to be put to work will remain idle until new boilers are installed or the old ones put in satisfactory condition. The inspector said the boilers were in a dangerous condition, and had been in use since 1884.

Brotherhood Officers Re-Elected.

Buffalo, Sept. 28.—The entire roster of grand officers of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen was re-elected for two years at the session of the ninth biennial convention. Some opposition to the re-election of Grand Master Hannahan developed, and Frank McManany of Grand Rapids was placed in the field against him.

Pennsylvania Changes.

George Thompson, formerly chief clerk to Assistant General Passenger Agent Kimball, of the Pennsylvania lines at Chicago, has been appointed northwestern passenger agent at St.
Paul. E. K. Bixby, who has been traveling passenger agent, with headquarters at Ft. Wayne, succeeds Mr.
Thompson as chief clerk to Mr. Kimball, and E. Nodenbaugh, who has been agent at Sandusky, O., succeeds
Mr. Bixby as traveling passenger agent at Ft. Wayne.

Discharged Conductor Despondent.
Lima, O., Sept. 28.—Asa Nyma,
a conductor on the C. H. & C., shot himself twice Monday, and cannot recover.
He was discharged from the employ of the railroad for disobeying orders, which resulted in the wrecking of a train. After talking with railroad men about his case he went into the station and shot twice.

Offices to Remain at Baltimore.

A dispatch from Baltimore says: All doubt as to the B. & O. retaining its general offices at Baltimore has been removed by the fact that the company has purchased a site at Baltimore and Charles streets for its new central building. The site was secured with much secrecy. The lot runs 115 feet on Charles street, and negotiations are now on for additional Baltimore street frontage. The present acquisition involves $300,000. Plans for a ten-story building to house the general and clerical staff of the road have already been drawn. The details will be announced when President Murray arrives home from abroad, October 5.

The supervisors and assistant supervisors of the Pennsylvania lines are preparing their trackage for the annual inspection of the general manager, and of the president and directors. These inspections will be made some time next month.

INHERITED SCROFULA

When a child I had a very severe attack of Diphtheria, which came near proving fatal. Upon recovery the glands of the neck were very much enlarged, and after the free use of iodine, the right one was reduced to its normal size, but the left one continued to grow—very slowly at first, until it was about the size of a goose egg, which began to press on the windpipe, causing difficult breathing, and became very painful. An incision was made and a large quantity of pus discharged. The gland was removed, or as much as could with safety be taken out. For ten years I wore a little piece of cloth about an inch long in my neck to keep the place open. During this time I had to have it cut open by the doctor every time I took cold or the opening clogged. In the Spring of early Summer of 1884 I was persuaded by my wife to use S. S. S., which I did, strictly in accordance with directions. I took twenty-six large bottles, and was entirely cured, for I have not suffered since that time.

Only a constitutional remedy can reach an hereditary disease like Scrofula. When the blood is restored to a normal condition and the scrofulous deposits are carried off there is a gradual return to health. S. S. S. is well known as a blood purifier and tonic. It is the only guaranteed, strictly vegetable remedy sold. If you have any signs of Scrofula, write us and our physicians will advise you free.

A TRIP TO EGYPT

C. Herbert Kerr's musical comedy, "A Trip to Egypt," his latest work, comes to the Auditorium on Friday evening. This attraction will be superior to any other of its kind, including "The Beauty Doctor" company, being larger as a production, etc. The entire production is carried by this company, with properties complete. The theatre-going people will remember the great hit made in this city last season by Mr. Kerr's "Beauty Doctor." Mr. Kerr has certainly done himself credit in this production in every way. The young ladies have all been especially engaged from some of the largest choruses in New York City, to insure this production one of the greatest successes of the season.

BARN BURNED

THREE YEARS AGO HOME OF WILLIS STONE WAS DESTROYED

At Present Time Mr. Stone is Confined to His Room in St. Louis Hotel by Sickness.

Hebron, O., Sept. 28.—Willis Stone's barn, a mile and a half west of Hebron, burned at 11 o'clock last night, together with a quantity of hay and grain. Mrs. Stone returned from town in the evening and turned the horse into the pasture and put the buggy in a shed. About three years ago Mr. Stone's residence was destroyed by fire and the supposition is that both conflagrations were of incendiary origin.

Mr. Stone went to St. Louis recently to attend the World's Fair and for the past week has been confined to his room in a hotel there by illness.

PREDICTION

Of 480 Deaths from Typhoid Fever Before Christmas in Indiana Made By Secretary Hurty.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 28.—Secretary J. N. Hurty, in the August bulletin of the State Board of Health, calls attention in vigorous language to the increase of typhoid fever in Indiana. In August there were 100 deaths from the disease.

"In September," reads the bulletin, "typhoid fever, the filthy disease which is a reproach to civilization, will begin its annual increase. This month there were exactly 100 deaths, and next month there will not be less than 150. In October the figure will not be less than 170, in November not less than 190 and in December not less than 200. By Christmas 5,000 people, now well and hearty, will have the typhoid fever and 480 will die."

Secretary Hurty declares that the disease might be avoided if proper sanitary measures were adopted.

QUEER ACTION

Of Young Man Who Was Taken in Charge by Officer—He Responds to Treatment.

Hebron, O., Sept. 28.—After working all day in the cornfield at the home of his father, two and a half miles west of Hebron, William Kuebler, son of William Kuebler Sr., suddenly left the field, hitched up his best horse and driving rapidly away, remarked that he was "going after a piano." Mr. Kuebler drove at a rapid rate through Hebron and went over to Buckeye Lake, where he hitched his horse and boarded one of the launches on the lake. He pulled the whistle cord and acted in so unusual a way that Officer Norris took charge of the man, but when he was taken to Hebron on an electric car it required the services of eight men to remove him from the car. Dr. O. M. Kramer was called to care for the young man after his return home late last night, but Mr. Kuebler's condition this morning was reported to be much improved. It is hoped that a few days' rest and care will restore him to his normal condition.

Metal ties, principally cast, have been used on various roads abroad for 50 years. They are not altogether a success and most roads substitute timber again. Not only is cost an objection, but they make construction too light and fail to get a good hold in the ballast, thus rendering it difficult to keep the track in line.

THE COURTS

JAMES E. HATCHER APPLIES FOR A DIVORCE.

The Wedding Took Place Less Than a Year Ago—Realty Transfer—Court House News.

Jas. E. Hatcher, by his attorney, O. W. Patrick, has filed his petition in the probate court wherein he asks for a decree of divorce from his wife, Jennie Hatcher. The parties were married November 14, 1903, and no children were born of said marriage. The plaintiff charges his wife with gross neglect of duty in that she has refused to keep house for him, thus putting him to the extra expense of boarding, although able to make but moderate wages. He also says that his wife would waste and dissipate his wages instead of paying bills with the same, thus allowing debts to accumulate, which he supposed were paid; that she refused to mend his clothes or in any way take an interest in his comfort and welfare; that on many different occasions she has cursed him without cause or provocation on his part. He also charges her with infidelity.

In Common Pleas.
